

This dual port Modular Jack is intended for future use to drive two more independent devices that are set up similar to the SwitchBoxes. However, the devices could have a completely different data stream and clock along with different LEDs and/or Switches.